
Acknowledgments

The Editorial Board owes special thanks to...

Haverford's student body, which submitted another impressive set of essays.

Haverford's faculty members, who encouraged students to believe in their work and submit their essays.

Dean Phil Bean for his meticulous editing of essays and his unflagging fortitude in the face of exhaustion, time constraints, and waves of emails.

The John B. Hurford '60 Humanities Center for giving the publication a home and making us feel welcome with their support.

James Weissinger for helping us brainstorm.

Sam Kaplan for laying out the Journal.

President Tom Tritton for his support and all of his contributions to the academic environment at Haverford.

Lauren Donaldson for being a great mentor.